DITTING SWISS PRECISION

Ditting stands for "Swiss Precision" down to the last detail. Profound scientific analysis and a careful evaluation of the customers' requirements provide the basis for the product development. The shop, filter and laboratory grinders of the product range convince with optimal functionality and reliable and exact grinding results. At the same time, the experienced Swiss engineers master very special technical challenges. For a successful implementation of a built-in grinder into the concept of a fully-automatic coffee or vending machine, the performance data, the bean supply and the connection to the brewing entity play important roles. Ditting offers the highest product quality and the most recent level of technology. Following modern, efficient and sustainably designed production processes, the experienced assembly workers at Bachenbülach near Zürich, bring all top-class components together.
